MINERAL BUILDING MAY BE KEPT OPEN THROUGHOUT YEAR

So pleased are mining men with the result that has been obtained in the collection of ores and minerals on exhibit at the Arizona state fair that a plan is now afoot whereby, with the aid of a caretaker, the Mines and Minerals building may be kept open all year for visitors, according to J. C.
Goodwin, who, with C. F. Willis, has been largely instrumental in making the exhibit a success.

With a new $40,000 building and cases valued at $10,000 to offset the display, the exhibit has been pronounced by experts who have visited mining collections all over the world equal to and unsurpassed by any in the United States, Mr. Goodwin said.

"Thousands of dollars are spent yearly to improve agricultural conditions of the state, but very little is spent to advance the mining interests, and it is hoped there may be an awakening in the mining field," Mr. Goodwin stated in speaking of the advisability of keeping the building open all year.

The Copper Queen case having been rebuilt and the exhibit rearranged, and the Calumet and Arizona case, which is of the same size and design, are among the most attractive of the exhibitions.

Other Fine Showings

Other companies making a splendid showing of ores are the New Cornelia, the Arizona Copper company, the United Verde Extension, the Ray Consolidated, the United Verde, the Shattuck Arizona, the Iron Cap Copper company, the Inspiration mine. A fine display of ore was made by five counties, Pima, Cochise, Yavapai, Gila and Mohave, although Yavapai county is the only one having a complete exhibit within itself.

Lesser but comprehensive individual exhibits are shown by the Vekol Mines company in silver ore from Pinal county, the Kile Truman mine in copper ore from Mohave county, the South Verde Consolidated Copper company in copper from Maricopa county, the Magma Chief in high grade copper from Pinal county, and the Bunker Hill Copper company in gold, silver, lead, silver and copper from Pinal county.

Shows Wealth of Mines

To show the great value of the mining industry in the state, Mr. Goodwin cites the Inspiration and Miami mines, which cover an area less than one mile long and two miles wide. Yet these two mines are producing more wealth and are assessed for greater value than all of Maricopa county. The Inspiration itself is assessed for greater value than all the farming lands and all the improvements on all the farming lands in the state of Arizona.
Eight years ago it was worthless and not producing a pound of copper.

Twenty cases of mineral collections are on display on the second floor of the building. In these are various characters of mineral products in Arizona. This exhibit was arranged by Professor Allen of the University of Arizona.

From 10 to 11 o'clock the New Cornelia company and from 1 to 2 o'clock the Inspiration company show four-reel motion pictures of the respective mines and the work done in the mines.
At 11 o'clock the University of Arizona gives demonstrations in the flotation process. Visitors are welcomed at each of these places.

HERE FROM ALASKA TO BOOST ARIZONA

William A. Barnhill, prominent attorney of Los Angeles, and former assistant United States attorney in Alaska, has come to Phoenix with a mission. Mr. Barnhill has just returned from Florence, where he went to visit Judge Overfield, who was on the United States bench in Alaska while Mr. Barnhill was there.

While in Florence, Mr. Barnhill inspected the Florence-Casa Grande valley, and at once realized its wonderful possibilities. At a meeting of the citizens' committee which has the development of the project in charge, Mr. Barnhill announced that he was somewhat excited over the affair and from henceforth he was going to do everything in his power to help the cause along. The committee took him at his word, and his first mission is a visit to Phoenix during state fair to advertise the project.

He will be in charge of a motion picture exhibit at the state fair and has arranged several other publicity stunts for the week.

Republican. We will collect later.

WILL TELL PEOPLE ABOUT SAN CARLOS

William A. Barnhill arrived in the city yesterday in the interest of the San Carlos project. He is acting as representative of the San Carlos committee formed at Florence last summer, and his business will be to conduct a campaign of education during the fair, to let people know that the construction of the San Carlos dam and the throwing of many thousands of acres in that rich region, open to cultivation will mean to Arizona.

Mr. Barnhill is a skilled publicity man and this will be the easiest job he ever had. All he will have to do will be to tell the people about it, or to remind them of it for they have all heard of it and need only not to forget it. Then they will get in and help.
